What is ESPON?

The ESPON 2020 cooperation programme aims at promoting and fostering a European territorial dimension in development and cooperation by providing evidence, knowledge transfer and policy learning to public authorities and other policy actors at all levels.

Primary target groups are:

- European policymakers, in particular in the field of Cohesion Policy as well as other relevant sectoral and thematic policies and programmes, particularly those currently not fully articulating their territorial approach.
- National policymakers and practitioners responsible for territorial cohesion, European territorial cooperation programmes, macro-regional strategies and Cohesion Policy preparation and implementation at national level, as well as other relevant policy fields.
- Authorities implementing European Structural & Investment Funds programmes and preparing periodical reporting.
- Regional and local policymakers and practitioners responsible for territorial development and planning and/or involved in cross-border, transnational and macro-regional cooperation.

Forthcoming Events

- 7 and 8 December 2016 in Bratislava
ESPON Seminar in cooperation with the EU Presidency of Slovakia: Where are European cities heading? Evidence for better policy-making

Targeted Analyses

Targeted Analyses aim to support policy makers and practitioners in their future policy development through the provision of European territorial evidence. Targeted Analyses are based on the questions and needs of the involved stakeholders. The Analyses themselves will be carried out by highly qualified experts after an EU wide procurement process.

How does it work?

Stakeholders propose practical ideas for relevant analysis to the ESPON EGTC. Following positive selection of a stakeholder proposal, the ESPON EGTC will implement Targeted Analyses through the procurement of external expertise via an open, EU wide procurement procedure.

What are the benefits?

Targeted Analyses are powerful means to transfer knowledge, share experience and facilitate the use of European territorial evidence rooted in real place-based policy development processes.

How to apply?

Stakeholder proposals for ESPON Targeted Analyses can be submitted at anytime. The ESPON EGTC evaluates twice per year all stakeholder proposals received by certain cut-off dates.

The next cut-off date for the submission of stakeholder proposals is on 13 January 2017.

Policy Briefs

The ESPON Policy Briefs are a new activity within ESPON 2020. Policy Briefs inform policy makers through the provision of short reports on important European issues with a spatial dimension. They give clear recommendations on policy development.

What are they about?

The newest policy brief highlights the polycentric development potential in Europe. Others have dealt with topics such as the refugee crisis or territorial scenarios for Europe 2050.

All ESPON publications as well as high-resolution maps can be found on our Website .

Tools

ESPON provides a range of analysis tools with the aim to support policy makers and practitioners right now. These tools are easy to use and easily accessible on our website.
